THE MIDDLEBURY CAMPUS

VOL. XI. THE MIDDLEBURY CAMPUS, WEDNESDAY, MAY 5, 1915. No. 5.

MIDD. TRIMS COLGATE.

In Rainy-Day Game Middlebury Figuratively and Literally Swamps Colgate.

In a driving rainstorm which hindered both teams and a field replete with that famous Vergennes series of mud on Saturday last Middlebury completely vanquished the Colgate team which the day previous had held University of Vermont to 0-0 in a twelve-inning game. The game was called in the 6th inning, with Middlebury in the lead, the score standing 5-3.

Although both teams were handicapped by the rain and wet grounds both teams played good ball and errors were due entirely to the condition of the ball. Aylward pitched an excellent game, using his "spitter" frequently in spite of the rain. Zeb allowed but two men to walk and but two hits. Hicks pitched well for Colgate, allowing but four hits.

Middlebury started scoring in the first inning when Bresnahan scored on a two-bagger by Haskins, Lamere coming in on Aylward's single and Haskins and Aylward scoring on a wild throw by Frazier in trying to catch Aylward at second base, giving Middlebury a lead of four runs.

Pollard, in his first game on the home grounds, played a nice game and succeeded in landing on the sphere for two bases in the fourth inning. Bresnahan also came across in the next inning for a three bagger, and Reid of Colgate got a fine hit in the second. The game by innings:

Colgate—Robinson out, Bresnahan to Loder. Dwer and Stewart struck out. No runs.

Middlebury—Sears got first on error by Frazier; Bresnahan got a single; Lamere reached first on fielder's choice, Sears going out at third; Haskins got two bases, bringing in Bresnahan; Aylward got single, Lamere going home on the play. Aylward caught off first, but a bad throw by Frazier let both Haskins and Aylward in. Robinson and Bartlette both went out, Hicks to Frazier. Four runs.

Colgate—Reid singled to center field; Frazier reached first with Reid safe at second on account of a bad throw to second by Aylward. Glendenning sacrificed; Jackson flied to Loder, Hicke out, Pollard to Loder. No score.

Middlebury—Pollard out, Goundry to Frazier; Loder flied to Robinson; Sears out, Goundry to Frazier.

Colgate—Goundry out, Sears to Loder, Sears making a pretty stop at short; Robinson walked; Dwyer out on a bad foul to Haskins; Stewart out, Aylward to Loder. No score.

Middlebury—Bresnahan flied to Reid; Lamere flied to Robinson, Haskins out, Hicks to Frazier.

Golgate—Reid walked, Frazier safe on fielder's choice, Reid going out at second; Pollard to Sears; Glendenning safe on error by Loder, Frazier reaching third. Haskins tried a short throw

WINS FIRST MEET.

Middlebury Defeats R. P. I. in Interesting Track Meet, 76-46.

Middlebury Gets Ten Firsts, Five Seconds, Five Thirds. Lee Individual Star, Winning 21 Points.

In the first intercollegiate track meet of the season, Middlebury completely outclassed the Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute team on the latter's field Saturday afternoon at Troy, N. Y., winning by a score of 76 to 46. After the first few events the result was never in doubt and the wearers of the blue and white piled up a substantial lead as the games went on. Ten first places, five seconds and five thirds tell the story.

Owing to the inclement weather, the track was in wretched condition and fast time was practically impossible. Nevertheless, the handful of spectators who braved the storm were treated to some exciting competition marked by thrilling finishes.

"Ridge" Lee was easily the star performer of the day, with a total of 21 points to his credit. "Ridge" took first places in the hundred, high hurdles, and broad jump, tied for first place in the high jump, and took second in the pole vault.

The mile run was the most spectacular race of the afternoon. Parsons of R. P. I. was leading by 60 yards at the three quarter post, when Jones began to make his effort, and gradually overtaking his man, "Casey" won by inches in the most stirring finish of the day. Jones later repeated his performance by making a runaway race of the half mile, with English and Drew tied for third.

The finish of the quarter was also a thriller. Giffert and Reeves of R. P. I. setting a hot pace, led throughout the race until the stretch was reached, when Hollister came through with a rush, nosing them out at the tape.

Dade had little difficulty in winning the low hurdles with Hubbard a good second. Hoffay ran a heady race in the two mile and won easily with a good sprint and plenty of reserve. Harris took third.

Middlebury was particulary strong in the field events. Day had no difficulty in winning the shot put, while Condit, Horsford and Day took all three places in the hammer throw, in the order named. Brewster and Day annexed second and third in the discus, while Lee and Paulsen tied with Niles of R. P. I. for first in the high jump.

The Middlebury men all finished the meet in excellent physical condition and showed the effects of even their short period of handling by Coach Jones.

Summary of events:

100 yard dash—First, Lee, Midd.; second, Bresse, R. P. I.; third, Ballister, R. P. I. Time, 10 3-5 sec.

EDITORIAL.

Isn't there room for another Clean-Up week this week?

There is a rumor abroad that Mary Pickford will be present at the Junior Play. Go and find out for yourself.

Why not start a precedent and incidentally a trophy hall by placing the last ball pitched in every game we win in the Union rooms, properly marked with the score, date of the game, and opposing team.

LET US NOT FORGET—that Junior Week is a time of entertainment and that as hosts and hostesses of the occasion we have some duties to perform. At the Junior Prom. last year most of the dance orders were filled before the dance and in consequence many of the guests of the college were obliged to sit out dances. Let us not shirk our duties this year but let every one reserve two or three dances on their orders for college guests. Don't think it an imposition on your partner to ask her to dance with a sub-freshman. She would probably be tickled to death to meet a new man.

Junior Week has come again and brought with it the usual number of social and athletic events. This year however, we have been favored by the faculty with more than the usual number of class cuts for that occasion and consequently additional effort has been made to make the annual festivity one of special merit. The games with New Hampshire State and Norwich and the track meet with St. Lawrence are going to prove themselves well worth while and we expect close contests in each case.

In consideration of these facts then, it would seem particularly desirable and may well be expected that the college will turn out in full force to witness these athletic events and by its support to help the boys bring home the laurel to that little trophy hall we have anticipated starting on the hill.

Let us get the old spirit right behind us then and turn out to a man at the track meet and games. We have the right "stuff" with us this year and we are going to get every contest, but it certainly behooves every man and woman in college to get out on the field and witness the "killing."

The Marks of a College Man.

The marks of a college man are said to be stamped upon each graduate after he receives his degree. However there must be some basis in each nature before that time. The marks do not develope on every individual; often they are seen in those upon whom they are least expected.

It is easy to know what they are not. The coat does not make the man, nor the gown the graduate. Therefore external appearances are somewhat deceptive. To be overbearing, because one has unfortunately a false idea of his self-importance, or position in life, does injustice to many with common-sense The appearance of knowledge will not deceive a listener, who realizes that good English is taught in the institutions of higher learning, and that the professor generally uses plain terms in speech. The college man is not always superior to the non-college man, who frequently employs him.

He who has the marks of a college man holds up the traditions of his alma mater in its ideals. Great men have gone through her halls as he has. What they have done, he may do.

The true college spirit requires him to be a man in the true sense of the word. He must be a gentleman. He is well bred who converses with quality in language and topics among his fellows as he does in ordinary social life with his elders. Loyalty to the college is his attitude before and after graduation. The snob, boor, or bore, becomes the thoughtful man, who is kind to all irrespective of position or wealth. Progressive, ambitious; he can utilize his knowledge to the best advantage; he is willing to learn and listens to wisdom coupled with experience.

The marks of a college man can be expressed in village, town, or city in various ways. In rural leadership, he can show his quality and character. Who could not utilize his training to get clean politics in his neighborhood, develope community life, and do something worth while?

Middlebury college has sent out men who have made her famous. We cannot tell what we may become, but we know what we might be. Can we not keep up the study of our college ideals after we leave it, that knowledge with virtue may show through our personalities, the marks of a college man?

SPORTING COLUMN.

Strictly speaking, both teams were "swamped" in Saturday's game.

The cheering section, under the grand stand, loyally supported the aspiring players.

Rensselaer? Rensselaer? Where, oh where have we heard that name before?

Maybe Lee didn't get away with a few of the coveted ribbons? Yes? No?

Well Junior Week is here with two big games and a track meet. Let's get right after them. "Middlebury Uber Alles," you know.

Too many chances on bases, Fellows, give the next man a chance to knock you in.

The girls sure proved themselves to be "jolly old pal's" in all sorts of weather!

And Tommy had time to swim to third on that long hit of his.

We'll have to give Colgate credit for sending out a good bunch of sports on their nine.

Looks as tho Coach Jones knows just how to show the boys the correct way of bringing home the bacon.

But the "Kid" kept his smile thru it all.

Reid of Colgate sure made some nice rainy day record. Up twice, two hits, one run, one putout, no errors.

Zeb pitched a fine game for a rainy day. Only two men walked.

Big slump reported in peanut stock.

Haskins was picking them out of the mud in fine shape.

"Which is the ball?" was the eternal question Loder had to ask himself as anywhere from one to twenty satellites of mud accompanied the ball to first.

Sears made a nice stop and throw from out of position in the first inning.

Umpire Kenworthy explained in the 6th inning that the game was to be called on account of rain. It did look like rain, we'll admit.

Day must have humped himself a little with the shot Saturday. He heaved the sphere 38 feet 6 inches, topping his best previous efforts by nearly 3 feet. This only goes to show what a fellow can do under fire.

And Bill Brewster broke his own record again, altho' he only got second place in the discus. Bill will soon be hurling the plate with the best of them.

"Casey" a ain proved himself to be a versatile athlete, getting first place in the half and mile runs.

Very good time could not be expected in the meet inasmuch as the events were held in a downpour of rain. The jumps and weight men also found it impossible to get a good footing.

Recent Additions to the Library.

Cawein. Poems (selected by the author) with a foreword by William Dean Howells.

Poems of a Middlewestern poet who strikes his strongest note in youth and nature.

Mackaye. Sistine Eve, and other poems

Contains the Ticonderoga ode.

Markham. The Man with the Hoe, and other poems.

Title poem, inspired by Millet's painting, a plea for oppressed humanity.

Masefield. The story of a round-house, and other poems.

The initial poem, Dauber, is a long rhymed narrative of a lad whose ambition to learn to paint the sea realistically has led him to ship as a sailor on a cruise around the Horn.

Noyes. Wine-Press, a tale of war.

The poem draws a picture of war as it is and tells the story of what it means to the young Balkan peasant, who goes out to fight unquestioningly at the behest of the "five men in black tail-coats"

Pinero. Second Mrs. Tangueray: A play in four acts.

Probably the best known and one of the most esteemed of the author's works.

Trelawney of the "Wells"; A comedietta in four acts.

Tagore. Gitanjali,—a collection of prose translations made by the author from the original Bengali.

Probably the most representative of the author's works, and interesting specially because it was the main cause of the award of the Nobel prize.

The library has just added to its reference collection Larousse's Grand dictionnaire universel du XIXe siecle 17v. The definitions and derivations of words are given, thus combining a dictionary with an encyclopedia. French encyclopedias are of importance to every library as the most convenient source for informations regarding European subjects. That one would better look elsewhere for an American subject may be seen from the following entry:—"Middlebury, ville des Etats-Unis d'Amerique, dans l'Etat de Vermont, a 53 kilom. S.—O. de Montpelier, sur l'Otter-River; 4,000 hab. College; exploitation de marbre."

The College is now prepared to furnish to alumni and students a beautiful photogravure of the campus and buildings, from a drawing by Mr. J. M. Meeker. The size is 10x20 1-2. The paper is Dutch hand-made plate, of weight sufficient to be ramed unmounted. All of the newer buildings of the college are shown, including the Mead Memorial Chapel. The picture is pronounced equal to any college bird's-eye view in impressiveness and beauty.

It is suggested that alumni may not only desire copies for themselves, but also for presentation to some high school.

FICTION AND ESSAYS.

Carroll, Alice's Adventures in Wonderland.

Carroll, Throuh the Looking Glass.

Though written for children, the wit, the fanciful humor, and the subtlety of these books can be fully appreciated only by educated people.

Churchill, Coniston.

An exposure of the boss system, as it worked in a young district during Grant's administration.

Conrad, Typhoon, and other stories.

Four stories of intermediate length. Typhoon is one of the greatest discriptions of a ship in a storm in any literature.

Deland, The Awakening of Helena Ritchie.

The sequel to this is The Iron Woman.

Howell's, Heroines of Fiction. 2 vol.

A work of rare charm, mingling literary philosophy with delightful pictures of the notable women of nineteenth century romance.

Martin, In a New Century.

Subjects of current or perennial interest discussed with graceful humor.

Pater, Essays from "The Guardian."

Contains most interesting portion of his literary journalism.

Perry, The Amateur Spirit.

Sane, optimistic essays.

Wister, Lady Baltimore.

The setting is typically southern, but it would divulge too much of the whimsically clever story to reveal the meaning of the high sounding title.

A number of additions have been made to Stevenson, Meredith, and Trollope.

Well?

"Vermont and Colgate battled twelve innings without a score yesterday afternoon in one of the best baseball games seen at Centennial Field in many a day." (Burlington Free Press May 1.)

"Middlebury swamps Colgate in six innings," (Middlebury Campus May 5.)

Have you heard about the latest dance? It is called the "Christian Science Waltz." You just sit around the edge of the dance floor and think you are waltzing and you are! This is quite a favorite in some places.

Prof. Mac. "Now Miss H.— we all have several selves. I can see your physical and social self, but as for your intellectual self,—well, I can't see it."

ALBANY LAW SCHOOL

The course of study leading to the degree of L. L. B. extends over a period of three years. Students who have pursued one or two years in a law office may enter the second year class as a candidate for a diploma but not a degree.

The high standard of the school and the facilities which the city affords with its legislature, libraries and courts, offer unequalled opportunity for a thorough and practical training.
